Federal funding sought

Jeffco bike trails proposed

By JOYCE MANLEY
Transcript Staff Writer

Jefferson County is applying for federal funds that, if approved, would provide about 15 miles of bike trails in the southern part of the county.

The proposed trail would start at the intersection of Kipling and Belleview and connect with existing trails at the Chatfield Dam recreation area.

The concept was approved by the Jeffco commissioners last week, Ray Printz, Jeffco open space director, told the Jeffco Open Space Advisory Committee Tuesday evening.

The application is being made jointly with Arapahoe County. About 13 miles of the trails is located in Jeffco and that portion is expected to cost the county about $47,000 of open space funds, with the remaining 80 per cent from federal funds.

One segment of the trail would run along the Platte Canyon and Platte River to downtown Denver.

The plan includes incorporating rest stops and rain shelters planted with native grasses, shade trees and bike racks, so people can lock their bikes and walk.

The Regional Transportation District may also provide bike racks at some bus stops for "bike and ride" facilities.

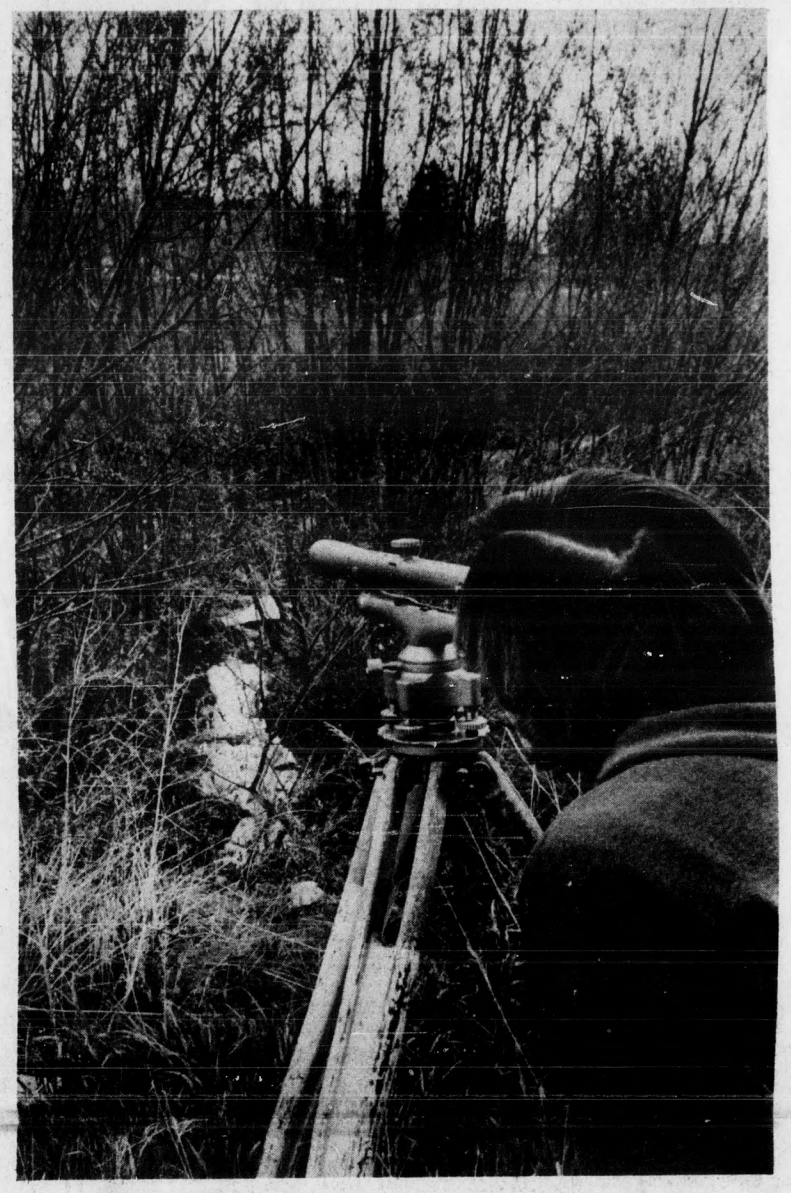
Littleton is planning to build a pumphouse with a bike rental and service center, the committee was told.

The final plan, that would continue the trail north for a total of about 25 miles, cannot be submitted at this time because of problems still unsolved, Printz explained.

Interstate 470 is still undecided, Bear Creek Dam has not been completed and Lakewood is considering the realignment of Kipling.

About 10 projects will eventually be approved, Printz said. The proposal will be submitted to the Denver Regional Council of Governments for their consideration by May 11.

The Jeffco commissioners authorized the hiring of a temporary planner last March to develop this demonstration program.



Shooting grades

Surveying in the jungles of Golden: Stan Ray of Petry and Vappi Construction shoots grades at the drainings ditch next to Jackson street between 18th and 19th Streets. Leo Bradley, owner of the land, plans to construct a flume, or large drainage tube, on the site to prepare it for possible, future, commercial development, says Hugo Buerger, caretaker of the land.

News summary

Arsenal employees in trouble

DENVER (AP)—Army research shows that scores of Rocky Mountain Arsenal employes have experienced abnormal brain wave patterns after being accidentally exposed to nerve gas, the Rocky Mountain News said in today's editions. The News said a report on the Army research contends the "long-term neurophysiological changes" may have triggered psychiatric probelms in arsenal workers.

War planned on crickets

DINOSAUR, Colo. (AP)—Facing the prospect of a locust-like plague in Colorado's northwestern corner, the federal government is gathering its forces to wage biological war on the Mormon cricket. A single-engine U.S. Department of Agriculture aircraft from Maryland will make the bombing runs this month, dropping almost 10,000 pounds of infested wheat bran on a prime breeding ground of the crickets in the Zenobia Basin north of Dinosaur National Monument.

Salary measure to voters

DENVER (AP)—A measure asking the state's voters to decide whether county commissioners should be allowed to set the salaries of all elected county officers was given final approval in the Colroado Senate on Wednesday. The resolution, which already has passed the House, now will be submitted to voters next November for their consideration.

Wholesale prices up

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government said today a steep increase in farm prices pushed wholesale prices up eight-tenths of a per cent during April, marking the biggest gain in six months and signalling a sharper rise in the cost of living ahead.

Teamsters strike continues

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP)—The Teamsters strike against the United Parcel Service entered its sixth day today after negotiators once again failed to reach an agreement in the contract dispute. No word of progress was reported from day-long negotiations that ended early today. A union spokesman had said Wednesday the talks are "still moving gradually and positively," but he did not elaborate further. The strike began at midnight Friday when about 14,000 drivers, loaders and sorters in 13 central and Rocky Mountain states walked off the job after the old contract expired.

Republicans mull bond issue pros and cons

By MARILYN SALTZMAN
Transcript Staff Writer

Bond issue, bacon and eggs were served at the Jeffco Republican Men's Club Wednesday morning where the pros and cons of the proposed $25.9 million bond issue were discussed.

Guest speakers at the club were Jacquie Haughton, R-1 bond chairman, in favor of the May 18 bond issue, and Dr. Wendell Fitzgerald, opponent of the bond.

Mrs. Haughton noted that the district has done such a good job handling overcrowding, that "we have convinced people that we don't have a problem." She added that the district has come to the end of stop gap solutions and now needs new construction to meet the needs.

Fitzgerald disagreed with Mrs. Haughton saying there are empty spaces in the county that should be filled. He feels the present bond issue is building for the future and not taking care of present needs. He cited the new junior high proposed for the south end of the county which would be built in an area that is undeveloped at this time.

He also said that more than 29,400 new spaces have been constructed in the last nine years and enrollment has only increased by 23,000.

Gerry Difford, director of central services, told the Transcript that the available spaces are scattered all over the county with a few here and there in different elementary classrooms. He added that all cottages are being utilized by the district.

Difford said that there was already a need for 3,000 spaces when the 29,400 were built. Another 1,000 spaces went into the Warren Tech Center. The remainder of the spaces and then some have been reallocated to special education, libraries, preschools and other special programs. Therefore, there is not the excess of spaces that Fitzgerald indicated, according to Difford. He also said using scattered spaces would mean a great deal of busing and the cost of busing students over a 12 year period would pay for an elementary school.

Fitzgerald said in a fact sheet that the capital reserve funds will provide $24 million over the next five years. He feels "if prudence is exercised in using these funds, the necessary classrooms can be built."

Mrs. Haughton disagreed with the concept of using capital reserve funds saying "it looks great, but it will take a long time that way."

"This is a one issue campaign," Mrs. Haughton said. She asked the citizens not to take out their frustrations with other issues on the kids by voting against the bond issue.

Fitzgerald said, "I vote against waste, not against kids." He feels the bond proposal is extravagant and a committee should be formed to assess the "real need."

PV area park controversy rages

By JOYCE MANLEY
Transcript Staff Writer

If you live in Pleasant View would you prefer a large park or smaller neighborhood parks?

The Jefferson County Open Space Advisory Committee discussed a proposed park in this area at their study meeting Tuesday evening.

The one being considered would be about four or five acres and would include a playground, small picnic area, parking and two baseball fields.

The parcel is bounded by Terry Street on the west, Eighth Street on the north and Mount Vernon Road on the southeast.

The committee was told that four members from open space met with three representatives from the Pleasant View Metropolitan District to discuss the proposal.

This is their number one priority, the board members said. The site is the one place that is flat, so there would be a minimum expense for bulldozing, they were told.

People don't want small parks because of noise, vandalism and bright lights, they were also told.

If approved by the county commissioners, this land would be purchased entirely by Jeffco open space funds and Pleasant View would develop and maintain the park. They expect to complete development within five years, the committee was told.

Although the open space committee agreed that Pleasant View needs parks, there was lengthly discussion questioning if a park in this area was really the "number one priority" of the entire community.

Another question raised was if smaller neighborhood "tot" parks might not meet the needs of more residents, particularly the younger children.

Also, how many established ball parks are in the area?

The committee voted to send a letter to the Pleasant View board stating that, if this is still their proposal and they will make a commitment to complete development within five years, the committee will consider a resolution at their May 25 meeting.

Morrison Plaza hearing tonight

By ANNE BORKOVIC
Special to the Transcript

Morrison's Memory Plaza Committee will seek a town planning commission recommendation on its building permit at tonight's public hearing to be held at 7 p.m. at the Morrison Town Hall, 110 Stone St.

The hearing is the first held by the commission under new regulations of the Morrison flood plain ordinance which was adopted at the March 3 board meeting and is now in effect.

The ordinance provides for two public hearings on new construction, the first held by the planning commission and the second by the town board of trustees. Upon completion of tonight's hearing, the commission will forward its recommendation on the plaza to the board, which will then announce the date of its public hearing. Following the public hearing, the board will either grant or deny the request.

MEMORY Plaza is a bicentennial project sponsored by the Schaffer's Crossing Chapter of the Veteran's of Foreign Wars Post. No. 3471 in memory of both veterans and private citizens. The plaza will be located along Bear Creek just south and west of the Morrison Conoco gas station which is in the flood plain.

Mrs. Beulah C. Harr, chairman of the Memory Plaza Committee, said tentative approval of the project was given at a preliminary meeting with the planning commission last week. The commission evaluated the request and, according to commission chairman Stephen Vigneron, found it was not in conflict with zoning provisions of the flood plain ordinance.

WHILE the construction fund goal was originally $1,000, Mrs. Harr said $652 and pledges of more than $100 have been received. However, because some labor and materials have been donated also, Mrs. Harr expects the plaza to be ready for Memorial Day dedication on May 30.

Of the 12 benches, 24 chairs and 12 tables set for the furniture goal, only four chairs and four tables have been donated although some furniture pledges have been received. Mrs. Harr said dollar contributions can be sent to: 17372 Colorado Hiway 8, Morrison, 80465. Furniture donors may call Mrs. Harr at 697-4357.

Golden gloom

A low ceiling of clouds ringed the Golden mountain front today foreshadowing possible afternoon and evening showers and thunderstorms. The weather service says there is a "good chance" of this weather activity along with an occasional light drizzle and fog into Friday morning throughout the metropolitan Denver area. Tonight's low should be in the upper 30's, and tomorrow's high in the upper 50's. Occasional gusty winds are possible. The chance of precipitation is 60 per cent tonight and 40 per cent Friday.

Parents tour school complexes

By MARILYN SALTZMAN
Transcript Staff Writer

Golden and mountain area parents became students last night to learn about the supportive services involved in running a $120 million a year school district.

The standing room only crowd of well over 100 parents, teachers and principals was given a three hour bus and walking tour of the administrative building complexes of the Jeffco school district.

For many parents, it was the first time back on a school bus in many a year and comments of "the aisles are narrower and the ceilings are lower," could be heard.

Visitors were guided by employes of the district who explained the role of each division. The magnitude of the operation was a surprise to many.

"I am surprised and impressed with the time, work and money involved. I knew it was big, but not this big," said Cliff Rullman, Kyffin parent and president of Apple Meadows Homeowners Association.

Robert Lewis, president of the Mountain Area Schools Forum, said "the district operation is very big business and this helps give some perspective as we go through and see the level of activity."

Edna Dorman, president-elect of Mitchell Elementary PTA, said she is impressed with how open everyone is at the administrative offices when "in Golden you can't find out anything."

Visitors learned enough facts and figures to satisfy any statistician while tourning the facilities. For example:

Food services serves 26,000 lunchcs a day.

The printing department prints four million sheets of paper a month, 75 per cent of which are curriculum materials.

Jeffco school district is the fifth largest employer in the state.

The warehouse stores more than $1.5 million in inventory.

The administrative service complex is located on a 46 acre site.

The district buses travel a total of three million miles a year.

'New' PV board

There'll be a new majority on the Pleasant View Metropolitan Board as a result of Tuesday's election.

In the second-largest voter turnout in the history of the unincorporated community, three of four incumbents were booted out, one by the narrowest of margins.

Three newcomers to the board—Larry Pace, Leo Harms and William Hoeper—will join five-month incumbent Claribelle Stow and Paul Wolf to form the new board.

It's difficult to analyze how the changes will affect the district's rocky metro board-fire department relations, or whether the conflicts there will subside after the new board gets established.

But because all members of the board will have been elected by Pleasant View residents—three of five before the election were appointed—we'd like to see every member given a fair shake.

With the interest over the future of Camp George West, board members will be under pressure to form opinions before all the evidence is in. We hope they don't succumb.

Certainly, each member's actions should be subject to intense public scrutiny. That goes with any elected official's job.

But we hope the board members are judged by their actions on the board, and not events of the past.

It's time for Pleasant View to look to the future. And the new board should provide the impetus.

Letters to the editor

Pass May 18 bond issue

To the editor:

Because of my interest in the Jefferson County Schools for the past 13 years, involvement in PTA and School Board operations for eight years, and membership on committees for two successful bond elections, I urge EVERY voter to become aware of the urgent need for additional classroom space and go to the polls May 18 to vote YES for the Bond Issue.

During the last nine years an additional 23,000 students have entered the Jefferson County School system. This growth is expected to continue into the future.

Thousands of Junior and Senior High students are on double sessions and extended days. We must return these students to a normal school day. In the fall of 1976, for the first time in recent history, even an Elementary school will go on double sessions.

The proposed bond issue projects are: 4 new Junior High Schools, 2 new Elementary Schools, and 2 Senior High School additions. Student and classroom needs are here now. Construction costs have continued to increase at an annual rate of 9.7 per cent during the last two years. The sooner new schools are built, the lower the total cost will be.

This is a CRITICAL NEEDS ONLY bond issue.

If you have questions, there is still time to obtain answers. Telephone 234-7000, Extension 451.

May I especially urge people like the Hobbs, whose children are no longer in school, and those who have no children, to go to the polls May 18 and vote YES?

Sincerely,
LOUISE HOBBS (Mrs. Warren)
Evergreen

Panama developing a tougher stance

By WILLIAM GIANDONI
Copley News Service

Panama's sudden replacement of Foreign Minister Juan Antonio Tack may indicate that the isthmian republic is going to take a new, harsher line in its dealings with the United States.

Tack has been a member of the team of experienced lawyer-diplomats that has been trying to negotiate a new treaty covering the Panama Canal and the 500-square-mile Canal Zone.

Although critical of the United States in most of his public pronouncements, Tack nevertheless has not been as harsh as Aquilino Boyd, Panamanian ambassador to the United Nations, or Nander Pitty, the ambassador to the Organization of American States.

Boyd, who was named to succeed Tack, has distinguished himself for his efforts to publicize Panama's case in the United Nations, and seizes every excuse to do so, no matter what the subject under discussion.

Most recently in the U.N. Security Council debate that led to the vote condemning South African "aggression" against Angola, Boyd rose to say that he hoped "that the United States does not forget the lesson received in Angola," the former Portuguese colony where Communist Cuban troops were airlifted to fight on behalf of the Soviet-supported Popular Movement for Liberation of Angola.

Boyd said that it was only "the opportune aid given the Angolan people by the Soviet Union and by Cuban internationalist combatants" that thwarted "intervention" there by South Africa and by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

Although Boyd praised the use of Cuban troops in Angola and sought to link the Angolan matter with Panama's current problems with the United States, he said that his country would not accept Cuban intervention in Panama.

He recalled that the Panamanian dictator, Gen. Omar Torrijos, has said that "we Panamanians have our own aspirin for our own ills."

A day earlier in a letter to U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, Boyd complained that "the colonial situation" that exists in the U.S.-controlled Canal Zone represents a threat to peace and security. He charged that the "sickout" by U.S. canal pilots was part of a campaign by the residents of the zone to sabotage the treaty negotiations between the two countries.

Panama and the United States have been trying about 12 years now to draft a pact covering the canal that would replace the Hay-Bunau Varilla Treaty of 1903 under terms of which the United States built the interoceanic waterway.

Panama is seeking complete jurisdiction over the canal by the year 2000.

Castro turns red conformist

By EDWARD NEILAN
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, once regarded as something of a maverick in the Soviet Union's Communist fold, has become very much a conformist.

In terms of attention given visiting dignitaries at the recent 25th Soviet party congress, Castro was accorded superstar status.

He spent more time in the spotlight than the Vietnamese delegate Le Duan, who was the object of considerable lionizing.

Moscow has a strong hand in the new Vietnam, but is slightly perturbed at the continuing references made by Le Duan and other Hanoi leaders to the "independence (from Moscow)" shown by West European Communist parties.

The Cuban leader, on the other hand, is toeing the Moscow line unequivocally. As Pravda proudly trumpeted, Castro said: "Our foreign policy is quite clear. It is based primarily on our inviolable friendship with the Soviet Union, the bulwark of world progress, whose generous assistance in all spheres promoted, to a decisive degree, the success of the Cuban revolution, the success of the struggle waged by the Cuban people against the aggression of the world's most powerful imperialist country (United States)."

Such declarations of loyalty are music to the ears of Soviet Party Secretary General Leonid I. Brezhnev.

He, in turn, praised Castro lavishly. In addition to Brezhnev's special words of praise, several Soviet delegates made a point of thanking Castro for the kind words he addressed to the Soviet Union and its "transcendental role for the future of mankind."

The delegate to the congress from Angola emphasized Cuba's participation with the Soviet Union in the successful "liberation struggle" in his country.

While State Department specialists are still puzzling over the precise timing and motivation of Castro's switch to hard-line adherence to Moscow's leadership, there can be no doubt that Havana has discarded nonconformist tendencies.

Preliminary speculation here holds that Cuba's more "correct" ideological line is the price Castro had to pay for Soviet bailout of Cuba's sagging economy.

The new Cuban constitution could have been written in Moscow. It contains provisions on both "proletarian" and "Socialist internationalism."

A Cuban army oath in December swore loyalty not only to the defense of Cuba but to "the great cause of socialism and proletarian internationalism." The soldiers swore "as our party and comrade Fidel teaches us, to be faithful to the Socialist camp and very particularly to the sacred friendship with the Soviet Union, its great Leninist party, and its glorious armed forces."

That is the most ringing endorsement of Moscow's leadership to be heard anywhere.

It even outdoes the pledges of North Korea's Kim Il Sung whose allegiance to Moscow has had to be tempered by increasing dependence on Peking.

Where NASA tax dollars go

By FRANK MACOMBER
Copley News Service

KENNEDY SPACE CENTER, Fla. — The world will thrill to no more manned space liftoffs from here until late 1979 or early 1980, when the first reusable shuttle craft is scheduled to be hurled into earth orbit to signal a new era of exploration beyond the world.

Nevertheless, the federal space agency anticipates more than a million Americans will crowd onto this spaceport bordering the Atlantic between May 30 and Labor Day to see the only government-sponsored Bicentennial Exposition of the 200th anniversary year.

Government and industry have teamed up to organize the "Third Century America" Exposition right here on Missile Alley, where the nation's astronauts were perched atop their towering rocket boosters before writing chapter after chapter in space history.

NASA and aerospace industry officials realize the American taxpayer lacks the enthusiasm of a few years ago over space exploration. So the exposition will have what is being called a "Space For Down-to-Earth Benefits" theme, stressing, among other things, the space program's impact on advances in health care and in the energy field.

Third Century America will look to the past and then to the future to dramatize improvements in the quality of life stemming from space-related science and technology.

The idea is to let Americans know what they're getting for their space tax dollars and how they'll benefit from earthly offshoots of the shuttle program of the 1980s.

Fifteen display domes, plus the world's third largest building — NASA's Vehicle Assembly Building (VAB) where the Apollo moon rockets were put together — will house exhibits from 16 government agencies and a dozen industrial firms.

For example, the role of the space shuttle in the management of earth resources — croplands, water supplies and forests — will be blueprinted by a Rockwell International exhibit.

An eight-foot revolving model of the space shuttle will focus attention on the ability of the shuttle craft to launch several earth-orbiting satellites during a single flight and how it can be used as a space laboratory for up to 30 days without returning to earth.

Lockheed Missiles & Space Co., Sunnyvale, Calif., will field an exhibit showing the use of the natural temperature difference between the surface and lower ocean depths to generate electrical power.

Another Lockheed exhibit will outline a new concept in satellites to aid man's understanding of the oceans. The Seasat satellite, scheduled for launching in 1978, is designed to relay back information on wave topography, surface wind speed and direction, ice field dynamics and other ocean phenomena.

TRW, Inc., of Redondo Beach, Calif., is preparing an exhibit highlighting how space technology has led to improvements in transportation, environmental quality, electronics and communications on earth.

The exhibit also will look toward the future with space-related discoveries of new ways to produce and conserve energy.

McDonnell Douglas Astronautics Co., St. Louis, Mo., will sponsor a display showing how health care has been improved through space-developed rapid microbiological analysis of blood samples in hospitals.

United Technologies Corp., East Hartford, Conn., will show how the application of fuel cells pioneered on Apollo flights as a power source have led to electric power generation on earth. Another exhibit will demonstrate the use of helicopters for rescue and other humanitarian missions.

General Dynamics Corp., St. Louis, Mo., will sponsor an exhibit showing how technology developed to build the Centaur second-stage rocket booster has been adapted to hundreds of earth applications.

Three of the 120-foot-diameter exhibit domes have been set aside for industry. The other 12 will house exhibits from government agencies. NASA hardware, with special emphasis on space spin-offs benefiting earthlings, will be housed in the huge VAB.

A new 10,000-square-foot exhibit and food services building at the Visitors Information Center is designed to accommodate upward of a million visitors expected at Cape Canaveral during the 102-day exposition at the height of the summer vacation season.

Role of political pollster

Editor's note—Political polls are a major factor in this year's primary elections. This article describes how some leading pollsters help determine what their candidates do and say.

By DANIEL Q. HANEY
Associated Press Writer

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Among the advisers who surround Jimmy Carter, there is a frenetic young man who tells the candidate what the voters are thinking.

Driven, noticeably intense, he stares at columns of numbers and, like a fortune teller, sees the future and how, perhaps to change it.

The young man is Patrick Caddell, a private political pollster. People like him work for the other presidential candidates as well.

As statisticians, they calculate the subleties of desire and distrust in the minds of people who vote. As advisors, they are telling most of the candidates in this year's primary election how to make the most of these feelings and attitudes, or how to neutralize them.

It was no coincidence, for example that between December and primary day in March, Carter made most of his Florida appearances in the southern part of the state. Three months before this key primary election, Caddell's polls told him that people there were still saying "Jimmy who?" In Miami, the state's largest city, only 13 per cent said they supported the former Georgia governor.

So on 16 of his 21 days in Florida, Carter spent at least part of his time in Miami, Tampa and the cities between. On primary day, he drew more votes than the original polls said he would, and statewide he won the primary.

In Florida, Ronald Reagan consulted a poll to learn how people would react to a possible new campaign theme-pointed criticism of Administration foreign policy.

The survey showed it would win votes. So in a departure from earlier campaign style, Reagan began referring to the "timid, vacillating and divided leadership" in Washington.

WHEN THE GOVERNOR used the foreign policy issue in a much sharper, more confrontive fashion, survey research was used to assess the success of that tack," said Reagan's pollster, Richard B. Wirthlin, president of Decision Making Information of Santa Ana, Calif. "It was found in Florida that the governor made up a rather sizable gap in the last days of that campaign by becoming more confrontive. He made up about 14 percentage points in 12 days." Nevertheless, Reagan lost the primary to Ford.

Increasingly, those who plan presidential campaigns rely on pollsters to decide how when and where their men should spend his time and money.

"Our basic function is to help allocate resources in the campaign," says Cadell who is 25.

"We serve as a focal point not only for strategy, but also for tactics on where you spend your money, where you put your media advertising, where you put your candidate's time, which issues you can use most effectively."

This was especially true in Florida where polling was used heavily for the March 9 primary because it was the first major confrontation for Carter, George Wallace and Henry Jackson, and it was a key primary for Ford and Reagan.

Today in history

Today is Thursday, May 6, the 127th day of 1976. There are 239 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1942, in the Pacific War, the exhausted American and Phillipine garrison at Corregidor surrendered to the Japanese after 150 days of resistance.

On this date:

In 1818, the German social philosopher, Karl Marx, was born in Prussia.

In 1861, Arkansas withdrew from the Union.

1889, the Eiffel Tower in Paris was officially opened.

In 1910, the Edwardian era came to an end with the death of Britain's King Edward VII.

1941, Joseph Stalin became the Soviet Premier, succeeding V.M. Molotov.

In 1974, Willy Brandt resigned as Chancellor of West Germany after saying he had been negligent in allowing an East German Communist spy to become a member of his staff.

Ten years ago: Democratic Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticutt said that almost 9 million of the 47 million cars made in the last six years had been recalled because of defects.

Five years ago: A week of demonstrations in Washington, D.C., against the Vietnam war ended with 1,000 people who had been arrested still in jail.

One year ago: The exiled Roman Catholic Prelate of Communist Hungary, Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, died in Vienna at the age of 83.

Today's birthdays: Retired baseball star Willie Mays is 45. Actor and director Orson Wells is 61.

Thought for today: No man is rich enough to buy back his past - Oscar Wilde, Irish writer, 1854-1900.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, at Williamsburg, Va., the House of Burgesses met but only seven members were present. The delegates adjourned the House of Burgesses as a body, ending the oldest representative group in America.

Assertiveness class set for young adults

"Assertiveness and the Young Adult" is the title of a Saturday morning class at Red Rocks Campus, Community College of Denver, scheduled for three sessions May 8, 15 and 22 from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Joseph Kandel will instruct the workshop, which will focus on how young people can recognize their own fundamental human worth and make others recognize it too.The assertice style of communication will be explained, practiced and personalized. For the young adult it may mean breaking from a self-defeating way of life and approaching the future with confidence.

Cost of the class, which is limited to 20 students, is $6 per person. Registration is requested prior to first class session by calling 988-6160, ext. 260, Community Services, Red Rocks Campus.

Open space workers cited

Plaques of appreciation were presented to seven former committee members of the Jefferson County Open Space Advisory Committee last week.

Recipients of the plaques - and years served - were: Denzil Boeka, 1974; David Boyle, 1973-1975; Ben Greene, 1973; Bob Kroening, 1973; Louis Martinelli, 1973; Donna Paschke, 1975-1976; Darrell Skelton, 1973-1975 (chairman, 1973 and 1974).

In making the presentations, Chairman Mike Moore remarked that the open space program is in its third year and was born on concerns and dreams that many people in the community had to save open space for the future.

"We have achieved some exciting accomplishments," he said, commending the committee members for their hard work.

Present members and newly-elected officers are: Mike Moore, chairman; Frank Leek, vice-chairman; Phillis Stutzman, secretary,Anthony Sabatini, Carol Karlin, Mike Davidson, Ruth Thornton, Bill Flinto, F. J. Mackey III, Charles Drotar, and Arthur Thompson, alternate.

Brennecke, Nordquist retiring

Retirement of two Colorado School of Mines faculty members will be announced at the CSM 102nd Commencement ceremonies to be held Friday May 7, in the Green Center, 16th and Cheyenne Streets in Golden.

Those retiring are Fritz S. Brennecke, athletic director and head of the physical education department, and Carl G. Nordquist, assistant professor of mineral economics. Their retirements will be effective September 1, and Brennecke will be elevated to emeritus status.

BRENNECKE, 64, has served as CSM's athletic director and as head of the physical education department since 1947. Serving as CSM's head football coach until 1968, Brennecke compiled a 22-year coaching career record of 83-127-8. He led two teams to championship titles in the Rocky Mountain Conference in 1951, and 1958.

Born in Montana, Brennecke attended high school in Montrose, Colorado and graduated from Colorado State College, now the University of Northern Colorado, with a Bachelor of Arts degree in political science in 1936. He holds a masters degree in International Relations from the University of Southern California.

The recipient of numerous awards, including induction into the Colorado High School Coaches Hall of Fame and being named Coach of the Year for the Rocky Mountain region in 1958, Brennecke presently serves on the Colorado State Athletic (Boxing) Commission, is an active member of the American Football Coaches Association and the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics, and is a past NCAA Football Rules and Committee member and Chairman of the Subcommittee on equipment and injuries.

CARL NORDQUIST

FRITZ BRENNECKE

A past member of the Golden City Council, Brennecke received the Golden Chamber of Commerce Award of Honor for his 33 years of service to the community and recently the City of Golden proclaimed April 1 as Fritz Brennecke day. He also received the "UNC Trail Blazer" Award from the University of Northern Colorado for his notable contributions to intercollegiate athletics.

CARL G. NORDQUIST, an assistant professor of mineral economics, joined the CSM faculty in 1948, where his teaching assignments have been in the fields of introductory economics and business law. He has helped develop the theoretical and conceptual aspects of the field of mineral economics at CSM.

A member of the American Society for Engineering Education and the Rocky Mountain Social Science Association, Nordquist received his bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Denver in 1947 and earned his masters degree in economics from Denver University in 1950. He has done consulting work with the CSM Research Foundation and has been Vice President for CSM Credit Union.

Born in Glens Falls, New York, in 1910, the family migrated to Denver where Nordquist graduated from Denver North High School. From 1934 to 1941, he was employed by Continental Oil Company's Denver Travel Bureau. He served as a field executive for the Boy Scouts of America from 1941 to 1942 and then joined the personnel training center at Fitzsimmons General Hospital until he enlisted in the U.S. Army in 1943.

A member and officer of the Rocky Mountain Collegiate Bowling Association, Nordquist has been the CSM bowling coach for the past twelve years. His teams have won several conference and regional championships including winnning the RMCB championship two of the past three years. He is also a member of the Denver Bowling Association Board of Directors.

Retirement plans for Nordquist and his wife, Catherine, include traveling to the New England area and vsiting their children Carol Bell of Phoenmix and Charles Nordquist of Anchorage , Alaska.

The Nordquists live at 6013 Youngfield, Arvada.

IN THE COUNTY COURT
No. 76 C 17949
ss
STATE OF COLORADO
COUNTY OF JEFFERSON
ORDER AND PUBLIC NOTICE
FOR CHANGE OF NAME

IN THE MATTER OF THE PETITION OF PATRICIA E. WILSON FOR A CHANGE OF NAME TO PATRICIA E. CALLAHAN

The petition of Patricia E. Wilson to change her legal name from Patricia E. Wilson to Patricia E. Callahan having been presented to this Court on the 28th day of April 1976, and upon interrogation of the petitioner and the examination of said petition, the Court finds the same sufficient and regular in form, and that the desired change would be proper and not detrimental to the interest of any other person.

It is Therefore Ordered, Adjudged and Decreed: That the name of said Patricia E. Wilson is hereby changed to Patricia E. Callahan, and she is hereby authorized to hereafter use said latter name as her legal name; and that such change shall be made and entered herein as record of this Court.

It is Further Ordered that public notice of such change be given at least three times in The Golden Daily Transcript, a newspaper published in Jefferson County, where Petitioner is residing, within twenty days after this order.

Done in Open Court this 28th day of April, A.D. 1976.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR FRIDAY, MAY 7, 1976

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES
(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)
Some excellent opportunities indicated but, with them, a few more responsibilities. Accept them graciously and you will reap fine dividends later.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 to May 21)
Some strain in key associations possible. Probe deeply to find the cause, the better to cope with it effectively. In any case, keep your sense of humor intact.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
The old saw about the pen being mightier than the sword has not lost its validity. Now's the time to use your innate gift for writing — and get what you want.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
A period for reviewing. You may have to change some procedures, systems, tie up some loose ends. Re-examination of long-range projects especially important.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
An excellent outlook! Day's activities should prove even more successful than anticipated; could even act as a springboard to further progress.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Follow your best judgment now. Even if you should make mistakes, they're YOURS — and less troublesome than those caused by another's well-intentioned but erroneous advice.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
Consider new methods and techniques, but don't overreach your capacities. Neither be overanxious. Impress others with your poise and good judgment.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Aspects indicate the possibility of some deception in your area. Be alert and ready to counteract with firmness. Above all, avoid those who have deceived you before.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Be ready to face competition. You usually enjoy the stimulation of this, but don't burn the candle at both ends in your desire to get ahead.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Not much planetary help here. In general, it would be better to stick to routine matters. Perhaps, too, to take a little time to make some long-range plans.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Some astute checking could save you time, prevent wasted energy and costly errors. Don't divert efforts into unproductive channels.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)
Pay no heed to glowing reports or sensational rumors — especially if finances are involved. Keep on an even keel and you should do well.

YOU BORN TODAY are extremely gifted in the creative arts; are idealistic to an unusual degree and highly imaginative. Your talent for both music and poetry is not only dominated by an emotional quality but by intellect as well and, as either composer or writer, there are no heights which you cannot attain. Should you prefer to train yourself along other lines, however, there are many fields from which you can successfully choose, notably: science, the law, statesmanship, education, photography or horticulture. In such case, music or writing would make a satisfying avocation. On the personal side, you have an outgoing and warm-hearted personality, are devoted to family and friends and have all the instincts of the true humanitarian. Birthdate of: Robert Browning, Eng. poet; Peter I. Tschaikovsky and Johannes Brahms, world-renowned composers; Gary Cooper, film star.

Columbine and A-West finish as top teams in divisional dogfights

By RICH GOTTESMAN
Transcript Sports Editor

It's Columbine in the South and Arvada West in the North after both schools won "must" games yesterday afternoon to advance to a showdown which will determine the overall Jefferson County baseball champs.

The Rebels broke a three-game losing skid in beating stubborn Evergreen, 3-1, to win their divisional title outright.

Arvada West cooled streaking Wheat Ridge, 11-1, to finish as co-champions in the North with Arvada, both 11-5. Since the Wildcats defeated Arvada twice this season, however, they will represent their division in a playoff with Columbine.

The two clubs will meet this Friday and Saturday to decide the Jeffco entry in the state tournament. If the schools divide the two games, a third one will be played Monday.

Elsewhere in the South, it was Bear Creek edging Lakewood, 6-5, and Green Mountain drubbing Alameda, 16-6.

Arvada did all it could in the North, defeating Jefferson, 7-1. Arvada never trailed during the course of the season in league standings. Pomona felled Golden, 9-1.

COLUMBINE 3, EVERGREEN, 1

Rick Laughbon pushed his season's pitching mark to 5-1 while insuring Columbine of the Southern Division baseball title in turning back Evergreen. Laughbon fanned 12 batters and lowered his earned run average to a miniscule 1.79.

The Rebs rebounded from an early deficit by scoring single runs in the third, fourth and fifth innings for the triumph.

Shortstop Kenny Lizer lifted Columbine into a tie with a base hit to knock in the Rebs' first run. Picky Pares tripled off the center field fence to lead off the fourth frame and scored on John Motsinger's single. Lizer then knocked in his second marker of the contest with a short sacrifice fly in the fifth to conclude the scoring.

Pinchrunner Billy Mart scored the third run by stealing second and third base and beating the throw home on the short flyball.

Lizer had two hits to go along with his two runs-batted-in.

ARVADA 7, JEFFERSON 1

Arvada finished its season with an outstanding 11-5 record and as Northern Division co-champions. But two losses to arch-rival A-West prevented the Redskins from advancing into post-season tourney play.

The Redskins, however, ended their season on a positive note, riding the pitching performance of Joe Rossi to a 7-1 win over Jefferson. Rossi lifted his pitching mark to 2-0 with a nifty three-hit, eight-strikeout gem.

Karl Halbach drove in two runs with a fifth-inning double and Tony Pisciola went three for four to pace the winners. Tony Peterson and Mike Stuart chipped in with two hits apiece.

BEAR CREEK 6, LAKEWOOD 5

Chuck Riebe chalked up his eighth win of the season, against one loss, as Bear Creek deposed Lakewood from undisputed possession of second place in the South. Lakewood, Bear Creek and Green Mountain all finished tied for the runnerup spot with 9-7 records.

The Bears rallied from behind, trailing 3-1, by scoring five runs in the fifth inning to take the lead for good. After three walks and a wild pitch produced one run, Billy Grams, Mike Lewis and John Priddy stroked consecutive singles to score four runs. Priddy's hit drove in two.

Priddy and Lewis had two hits each for Bear Creek.

Wildcats defeat WR 11-1 for North title

By MARK NIGRO
Wheat Ridge Correspondent

The line score says it all. Wheat Ridge: one run on six hits while committing seven errors. Arvada West: eleven runs on thirteen hits and one error.

What promised to be a close nail-biting game for the Northern Division championship, turned out to be a building avalanche of mistakes, bad breaks and Wildcat hits for the Farmers yesterday.

There weren't any indications before the game to prepare the Wheat Ridge side for the way they would fall apart at their Levi seams to a fired up A-West club.

Early signs of a wipeout came when starting Farmer pitcher Bill Bright hit A-West's first batter, Benevedez, who scored on a misplayed single to right centerfield off the bat of Comstock, who in turn scored on Mark Biren's single.

After that it was all down hill for the Farmers. They scored their lone run of the contest in the second inning but then allowed the Wildcats to tally once in that inning without a hit.

With the momentum held in their grasp, the Cats confidently stroked eleven hits while ringing up eight runs off Farmer pitching in the next four innings. The big blow came from Christensen, who tripled in West's fifth and sixth runs in the fourth inning, running the score to 6-1 which broke the collective backs of the Farmers.

Wheat Ridge dug their own grave in the sixth inning by committing four errors which, combined with five A-West singles, ended the Farmer's season while sending the Wildcats to the Jeffco league championship which begins Friday.

A-West takes early lead in girls track

By JIM HUTCHINS
and BILL KEYES
High school correspondents

Golden's girls track team will take a thrid-place finish in yesterday's field events into the track portion of the Jeffco League relays today.

Golden is protesting a second place finish in the discus which would not affect the standings.

Arvada West leads the league after the first half of the meet. The Wildcats have 26 points, followed by Wheat Ridge with 20, and Golden with 16. Alameda is fourth with ten points.

Golden's brightest spot in the field events was a record-breaking performance in the standing broad jump. The team of Debbie Durbin, Sue Ellis and Laurie Welch bested the old record by five inches.

Golden also captured second place in the shot-put, with a ruling still pending on a protest by Golden Coach Dick Booton.

Looking to the track portion of the meet today, Booton says, "I have high hopes."

Booton is expecting first place finishes in the shuttle hurdles, 880 relay and possible top spots in the distance events as well as the 440 yard relay, he says. "If we can place first in those, we'll win." he remarked.

In other events, the Demons took third in the discus and fourth in the softball throw. In the high jump, the girls could only muster a fifth place.

Wheat Ridge won two events in the meet. Sally Donnelly, Lisa Birdsong, and Loren Mullineaux combined together for the Farmers to win the high jump. Andy Witham, Wanda Kordziel, and Kevon Shea led the Farmer's to a victory in the running long jump.

Events continue tonight (Thursday) at 7:30.

Demon season ends with 9th straight loss

By JIM HUTCHINS
GHS Correspondent

Pomona's baseball nine capped a frustrating season for the Golden Demons with a 9-1 overpowering of the Golden squad.

Golden is now 2-14 on the season, while Pomona raised their loop record to 9-7.

The first two innings decided the contest for the Demons. Hurler Gary Pierce gave up five walks and the Panthers only needed one hit to score five runs in the first two frames. Two errors in the opening pair also helped the Panthers to their 5-0 lead.

After Pomona sent three more runs across the plate in the fourth inning, Golden finally came up with a run on a Randy Poundstone hit.

Golden's hitting was potent, but the Demons stranded seven men on base. Pomona's defense was a major factor in the Golden loss. Golden was stung by two double plays and Panther mound star Don Bradford only gave the Demons one base on balls.

The contest was virtually a rematch of the previous game between the clubs, which Pomona also won, 10-2. Golden's numerous errors and troubled pitching opened up the Panthers scoring opportunities.

Golden's loss ended its season with a less-than-illustrious nine-game loss skein. Golden's only wins were registered against Green Mountain and Jefferson, neither by wide margins.

Golden's seven hits came from only four batters. Rich Lockwood, Poundstone and first sacker Ed Baaske were each two for three, with leadoff batter Stuart Cobb going one for three to finish with an unofficial .461 average.

Rams clobber Alameda

By MIKE MCKIBBIN
Green Mountain
Correspondent

In a baseball game called after six innings because of the ten-run rule, Green Mountain's Fighting Rams defeated the Alameda Pirates 16-6 Wednesday afternoon.

Ram catcher Gary Groninger gave the Rams their initial run in the first inning by hitting the first of two home runs. Designated hitter Bob Williams hit another homer in the second inning to give Green Mountain it's second run.

In the third inning, Alameda finally pushed across a run of their own. Scott Miller drew a walk from Ram starter Mike Bogus, stole second base and scored on an error. In their turn at bat in the bottom of the third, Green Mountain's Mike Reilly doubled and Groninger then hit his second homer to give Green Mountain a 5-1 lead.

In the fourth inning Alameda finally got their first hit off Bogus but were unable to score. However, Green Mountain, could, and did, rallying for five runs.

Dave Harnish started the inning by getting on base on an error. Rick Yager then singled and Harnish advanced two bases on a throwing error, but was thrown out at home. Yager took third on the play. Reilly walked and took second on another error. Huey Jiron doubled to drive in both runners for the Rams. Kirk Czir also doubled to score Jiron. Czir advanced to third on a wild pitch and Rich Reed then singled him in. The next batter, Williams, was hit by a pitch. Keily Guy then singled to drive in Lance Long, who had been sent in to run for Reed.

However, Alameda came right back with a five run rally of their own. Russ Larson walked and was sacrificed to second by Miller. Bill Heslop singled to send Larson to third. Then came the first of three straight home runs by Alameda. Eric Gustofson hit the first with both runners on. Wade Swarm and Donny Springfield then followed suit with solo blasts.

Green Mountain scored one more run in their next turn at bat. Reilly singled, stole second and scored when the ball got away from the second baseman for Alameda.

The Rams then ended the game with another five run rally, this one in the bottom of the sixth.

BROTHERLY MEETING

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—The Brett Brothers of major league baseball are five years apart in age but they haven't played much baseball together since their kid days. They finally opposed each other as pros when the New York Yankees beat the Kansas City Royals 6-4 in a March exhibition game here.

In the sixth inning, Yankee Ken, 27, threw a fastball. Royal George, a 22-year-old third baseman, hit the ball 425 feet over the right-center fence for a home run.

In case you follow the Brett brothers, George hit .308 in 159 American League games last season.

SHEILA STOOD OUT

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Of the 111 medals won at the 12th Winter Olympics here 10 went to United States' athletes and speed skater Sheila Young of Detroit won three of them. The 25-year-old Miss Young is the first American ever to win three medals in one Winter Olympics.

Miss Young won one of the three medals taken by American athletes in winning the women's 500-meters race. She took one of the three silver medals with her second place in the 1,500 meters and captured one of our bronze medals going to U.S. women by scoring the third best time in the 1,000 meter event.

Game 3 tonight

Nuggets and Nets vie

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP)—The New York Nets have been basically operating as a one-man offense—Julius "Dr. J." Erving—in their American Basketball Association championship series against the Denver Nuggets.

The Nuggets, on the other hand, have been cutting up their scoring more evenly.

The results? One success for each team.

Game Three in the best-of-seven series will be played tonight at the Nassau Coliseum.

"I'm exhausted," said Denver's Bobby Jones, after trying futilely to stay with the brilliant Erving in the first two games. "He never lets up."

In the Nets' 120-118 opening-game victory, Erving scored 45 points, including the winning basket at the buzzer. He also grabbed 12 rebounds, handed out four assists, had one steal and blocked one shot. In Denver's 127-121 second-game triumph, he scored 48 points, including 25 points in the fourth quarter and 37 in the second half, pulled down 14 rebounds, collected eight assists, made three steals and blocked one shot.

"They've used every word in the dictionary to describe him," said Denver's Byron Beck, after taking a brief turn at guarding Erving in Game Two.

In addition to using Jones and Beck on the irrepressible Erving, Denver Coach Larry Brown has told one of his guards to help out on defense against the Nets' dominating forward.

Denver's guard situation, however, is not good.

Only veteran Ralph Simpson, the Nuggets' high scorer in Game Two with 25 points, has been consistent. Chuck Williams, the other backcourt starter, suffered a calf injury in the first game and was limited to 18 minutes of playing time in the second game. Claude Terry was knocked to the floor during a fourth-period collision in Game Two and hit his head. Rookie Monte Towe has a broken wrist, and Jimmy Foster has little experience.

However, the front line of forwards David Thompson and Jones and center Dan Issel has produced. Each scored 24 points in the Nuggets' victory.

Spirits' move on tap in ABA talks

ST. LOUIS (AP)—American Basketball Association trustees were scheduled to meet in New York today, with a move by the Spirits of St. Louis one of the items on the agenda.

When asked if the request was to shift the franchise to Salt Lake City, principal owner Ozzie Silna said, "That appears to be the most likely area."

"In order to make a move, we must get the approval of the trustees," he said. "I'm sure something will come out of the meeting."

Earl D. Walters, a Salt Lake City businessman, said Wednesday he had raised the $600,000 needed from Utah investors to move the club west.

Harry Weltman, president and general manager of the team, was in Salt Lake City earlier this week, reportedly to hire staff, look over the Arena and pick some dates.
